About: Project Street Vet is founded on the inspiring “Street Vet Work” of Dr. Kwane Stewart, who for years has provided direct vet-to-pet services by walking city streets to identify individuals experiencing homelessness with pets. Once identified, free exams, vaccines, flea meds, supplies, and more are offered by our volunteer veterinary teams and information is gathered for follow-ups and additional care. Care and supplies are provided by Project Street Vet at no cost to pet parents. Project Street Vet offers support to the pets and their owners experiencing or at risk of homelessness. From simple exams to life-saving surgeries - we’re here to help. Our work is carried out mainly through “Street Vet Work,” free pet clinics, and financial assistance.
